It is relatively easy to assemble, but the manufacturer recommends that two adults perform this task because of the size of the pieces. After you put it together, take a little time to show your kids what they should and shouldn't do while playing on the set. Assembling the Walls Match the letters on the bottom corners of the walls. For example, match the two walls with the letter A at the bottom. Raise the wall that has hooks, and insert the hooks into the corresponding openings in the other wall. Push down on the hookbearing wall to lock the walls together. Match the walls lettered B and C and assemble them in the same way. Use a block of wood and a hammer or rubber mallet when connecting the last two walls, those lettered D, to pound the hooks into the openings. Assembling the Tunnel Put the tunnel bottom, which is the tunnel piece that has no pegs, on the shelflike outcropping at the bottom of the wall with the bubble window. Do not over tighten or the bolt covers will not close. Put the tunnel top, which is the piece with pegs, on the shelflike outcropping at the top of the wall with the bubble window.

The threaded bushings are preinstalled in the tunnel bottom. Tighten the bolts with a screwdriver. Maintaining and Disassembling the Playground Maintain the playground by checking all of the bolts and cap nuts from time to time to ensure that they're tight, particularly at the start of each season of use. Make sure that the bolt covers are closed. Disassemble the playground by taking the tunnel off first. Pry the small hooks from the tops of the walls, using a slotted screwdriver if needed. Wear safety glasses for this task. Tips Do not set the playground on a hard surface such as concrete, asphalt or packed dirt, since falls onto such surfaces could injure children. Warnings Place the playground on a level area at least 6 feet away from fences, buildings, tree branches, clothes lines or power lines. When the temperature is below 0 degrees, the plastic the playground is made of might become brittle and crack. Do not use the playground in these temperatures. Store the playground in a warm place that's protected from the weather. Do not let children climb on the playground while it's wet. Children should wear shoes and clothing that fits well while playing on the playground. Adults should supervise children at all times. The playground will accommodate up to eight children with a maximum weight of 100 pounds each. Absolutely loveee this playground. Bought for my 2.5 yr old daughter during the height of quarantine its made for endless amounts of fun and doesnt take up too much space in my yard. Love the unisex colors and it also matches Other Little Tikes toys I got her like the adjustable basketball hoop and I am able to fit her Little Tikes BBQ grill set in the open play area. There is just so much for her and my older nieces to do in this set. The only downside was the price its expensive but since we wont be able to go anywhere this summer I think that offsets the cost a little bit.

Oh and also some parts you really had to jimmy together its all hard plastic so some pieces took 3 adults to assemble but overall worth it for it keeps the kids entertained and gives a much needed break. June 18, 2020 Toddler loves the playground. Love that you can adjust it 8 different ways and even break it up into two separate pieces. The setup is difficult because it requires a ton of strength so I would recommend having two people setup. There are no screws but you need to interlock all the pieces using full strength. Other than that we love it and definitely recommend. See more Reviewed by Adriana Adriana Helpful. Yes 0 No 0 Report Average Rating 5.0 out of 5 stars 240 ratings, based on 240 reviews Love this!!! June 2, 2020 I was actually afraid to put this together due to the reviews. BUT it wasnt too bad. A rubber mallet was the only tool needed. I put it together with two of my oldest daughters. Its such a fun play set. It gets hot easily in the sun so plan to place it in a shaded area or the kiddos will definitely burn themselves. See more Reviewed by Nana Nana Helpful. June 25, 2020 There are a few reviews that said this was extremely hard to put together.especially the last three pieces. I figured wed put several together before, we should be able to do this one. Wrong! There is seriously something wrong with the last three pieces, mostly the piece with the door. We have tried for several days now and still cant do it. We had to take it out of the box at the store to fit it into the back of our large SUV, so no way to return it or I would. So far the first section with the slide is a hit, Hoping with three to four men we can push these pieces together, but we dont know yet. There is a serious quality control problem with these pieces. Also, the colors are even more boring than the photos. Didnt think it was worth that much more. But now that I see the colors, it might have been. Also, it appears a little scratched up and dirty. We love little tykes and Im still hopeful it will get used, but so far, Im not nearly as happy as I have been with previous LT purchases. See more Reviewed by CeeCee CeeCee Helpful. I have a 7,5,3,2 year old that play on it constantly. I have gotten my moneys worth out of this toy. When I contacted LT about buying replacement slides I found out the only part that is available for replacement is the door. My kids could continue to use this toy without the door, but without the slides it loses its fun factor. Contact with LT has been useless at this point as they can not sell anything but the door. Please try your search again later. It offers plenty of climbing, crawling and sliding activities, and 2 slides allow younger and older kids to play together at the same time. For indoor or outdoor use. Recommended for ages 2 to 8. Made in USA. This is an oversize item. A flat shipping charge will be added at checkout. A 2 foot long climb through tunnel connects two separate, open topped towers one is 4.5 feet tall, the other 5.5. The shorter tower has a swinging door and windows, the larger one has two separate levels and two smooth plastic slides one is 3 feet long, the other 4. It's the perfect investment for bigger and smaller kids to play with together. But best of all, the playground can be disassembled and rebuilt into eight different configurations whenever the current setup loses its charm. With Little Tikes typical rock solid, kid friendly construction, you can bet this sturdy playground will be around long enough for that to happen. EJ Hamm 3.0 out of 5 stars On a side note, the one they sent me is not nearly as colorful as the picture in Amazon.com, no hot pinks or anything like that, mostly blue, dark green and tan. Fine, but not the color explosion it appeared to be. As far as assembly crud. Give yourself 2 hours, have a hammer or rubber mallet and you would be best off with at least two good sized friends. This thing is just hollow injection molded plastic pieces and the parts barely fit together. You basically need to press and bend the plastic pieces into one another while forcing them together to make the thing work. I ended up having to literally stand on and jump up and down on some of the pieces to get them to fit into one another.

Even then, one or two minor parts just do not fit tightly. On a pain in the butt scale, I give it a 7.5, maybe an 8. Be warned. Our son is only 14 months old, so he's not getting the full impact of enjoyment just yet. However, he shows interest and loves to explore it as much as he is capable of now. We know that in the coming months, he will be able to do more climbing and sliding by himself. This is a great way to start rather than spending a lot more on a larger wooden play set. Enjoy! My toddlers went crazy over it when it arrived. I am happy with it though and know they will play with it for years and it won't fall apart. It is a good investment. Two notes, it did take a long time to put it together, the blue arch especially was hard. And look at the product description for the color of playground rather than the picture. We recently moved it under our patio due to the hot Arizona sun and it fits perfectly! It was hard to assemble it seemed intuitive but we could not get the walls to latch down at all perhaps because of its age, though it looks like other reviewers had problems too with new ones. I did find the assembly instructions on the Little Tikes website but they weren't helpful. I had a hard time digging up tips so wanted to post for other people. If you have a hard time getting the walls to shove down into each other properly, a combo of dish soap or probably oil, but I figured soap would come off faster and using a long screwdriver to pry it down right worked great as long as you were holding the two sides you are working on at just the right angle to each other. We didn't pay enough attention to that at first and were just trying for brute force using a hammer, and that was totally useless. When we angled them together exactly right, the screwdriver did the trick fairly easily. Hope this helps others. It seems like a great product. We could barely get the kids off it long enough to finish assembling it. It was for my then 2yr old and he STILL plays on it.
